A Lively Mail Clerk in His 81st Year. A. M. Kendall, the veteran mail clerk running through here between Burling-ten and Boston, was for many years a resident here and took an active part in the affairs of the local Baptist church, Monday evening when he reached Burlington on his regular run he found a pleasant surprise in store for him. It was his 80th birthday anniversary and his friends on the mail runs on his route and over the Boston & Al-bany route had sent to his Burlington home many floral remembrances of the anniversary, among them 80 carnations and 14 white roses.

Mr. Kendall began railroading in 1860, running from Bellows Falls to Fitch-burg as a brakeman on the old Cheshire road. He later worked several years for the express company as a messen-ger and as early as 1869 began his serger and as early as 182 began his service for the government as mail clerk between aere and Springfield, Mass. This run he had many years, still residing here. He has had various runs in New England, but has been permanently on the Boston and Burlington run since 1880, except about four years following on the Boston and Burlington run since 1880, except about four years following Cleveland's first administration. He was reinstated under President Harrison.

His record of 52 years of railroading, the last 32 as being in the mail service, is probably unequalled, as well as the record of a man of 80 years of such vigor as to be able to continue so long a run and do satisfactory service. He always greets his old Bellows Falls friends with much hearty pleasure from his car door each Jay. his car door each day.

Students Start for Washington Tomor-

Professor Tuttle's annual excursion to Washington will leave tomorrow morn-ing on the early train and will go by the way of Springfield this year. The mag-nitude of this trip is increasing each year. Tomorrow's excursion, besides the ocal members will be participated in by eight of ten other high schools in different parts of Vermont and New Hampshire, who will join the party here. Mr. Tuttle has had charge of all the arrangements and all the tickets pass through his hands. Nearly the entire membership of the senior class of 39 are going, and in addition five or six other local citizens. Because of the attention local citizens. Because of the attention of Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle being largely taken in the arrangements for the whole party, Instructor F. L. Daye will go this year to look out for the interests of and chaperone the local high school students. Different towns whose senior classes have participated in former years, seem to have varied judgment regarding the wisdom of the annual trip. It can be truthfully said that as far as garding the wisdom of the annual trip.

It can be truthfully said that as far as the Bellows Falls end of it is concerned, or its influence and effect upon the students who have been heretofore, there is practically no criticism locally, and only the heartlest cooperation is given to Professor Tuttle in his arduous work.

I. B. Newman Residence Leased for Public Hospital.

The question of a public hospital for Bellows Falls has been definitely settled during the past week by the agreement of the directors of the Rockingham Hospital association to lease the I. B. New-man residence for five years for the purpose at an annual rental of $365. The present plans indicate that the building will be ready for occupancy May 1, with seven to nine beds available and opportunity for more. The location is ideal for the purpose, situated on the brow of Williams terrace overlooking Pine street, and having one of the finest outlooks to be had over the village, and of the Connecticut river valley looking north. It is but a few rods from the electric car line as it climbs the terrace, and is only 300 feet from one entrance to and is only 300 feet from one chicage to the new public park and playground. This hospital in no manner interferes with the private hospital established a few months ago by Dr. A. C. Liston of North Walpole. That is known as the cokwood and is located but a few rods

Increase in Paper Makers' Wages,

The International Paper company during the past week have issued a circular letter to their employes here and else-where informing them of a voluntary increase in pay to take effect May 1. amounting to about $2.50 per month to every employe in their standard payroll digest. This includes both day and hour workers and is very pleasing to the 500 or 600 local men. The minimum wage is to be for common laborers 20 cents per hour for day work, while those working on tours received 24 cents and upwards. Expert workmen receive much larger pay, and it is probably true that at Bellows Falls the average wage is slightly larger than the average paid workmen at other points in New Eng-

$25,000 Toward Girls' Home.

The Kurn Hattin Homes, which organization has its executive office here with its treasurer, E. L. Walker, has recently received a gift of $25,000 for establishing a girls' home, which shall be along lines similar to the homes for boys located at Westminster and Saxtons River. These homes are now caring for 83 homeless boys. The gift mentioned is only a small part of what is needed before the trustees can see their way clear to start a girls' department, but it makes a good sized beginning, at which all interested in the home and its work will rejoice.

A restaurant in the new building on School street owned by H. W. Porter was opened to the public last week. The rooms are very tastefully arranged and furnished, there being a reception room and a large dining room on the first floor, with kitchen, ice room and stor-age in the basement. Rooms for a small family are located, in the second story. Mr. Porter has engaged a competent cook, and the table service is giving excellent satisfaction.

A Bellows Falls Baseball association was organized in Banquet hall Thursday evening of last week. A board of direc-tors was elected as follows: Thomas E. O'Brien, Fred C. Winnewisser, Charles J. O'Neil, Edward C. Barnard, H. A. Morse, O. M. Custer and C. C. Collins. The directors later met and elected C. J. O'Nell, president; T. E. O'Brien, vice president; H. A. Morse, secretary; O. M. Custer, treasurer. The matter of salary limit was left to the directors of the board, and a canvass for funds is already under way. It is proposed to raise $1000 for the purpose.

Goodnow Brothers & Pearson opened Wednesday morning an extensive and attractive new department in the second story of their building, which is now devoted entirely to ladles garments and furnishings. They had advertised the detect their surplus and since then have date of their opening and since then have had several assistants from other stores of the firm. The first story of their building is occupied as heretofore by their men's clothing and boots and shoes. Their new department, devoted as the story of their production of the story o entirely to ladies' goods, shows the largest variety that has ever been offered here and makes an attractive place. Entrance is gained to the second story either through the main store below or from the main entrance from the street in the centre of the building.

BUYING LAND B. & M.

Report of Agreement with Central Vermont Confirmed

Will Be Executed Formally Soon-Tenants on Railroad Property Notified to Vacate When Leases Expire.

Boston & Maine railroad land agents continued the work of buying land have continued the work of buying land on Vernon street this week to be deed-ed to the Central Vermont's subsidary, the New London Northern road, in ex-change for a right of way through the freight yard, and the Central Vermont has served notice upon its tenants in the yard and on adjoining railroad property to vacuate at the expiration of their to vacate at the expiration of their leases, which will be in from one to three months. These are the principal news features of the week in connection with the carrying out of the agree-ment reached last week whereby the Boston & Maine company will build between South Vernon and Brattleboro on the Vermont side of the river, as defi-nitely stated in The Phoenix last Friday.

The statement that the roads have ome to an agreement relative to the Brattleboro situation is confirmed in letter to The Phonix from one of the highest officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad company in Boston, and the agreement will be ex-ecuted formally by the heads of the railroads within a short time. Practically all of the private property in Brattleboro which be needed for railroad purposes under the new ar rangement has been bought except the Crosby grain warehouse and elevator. The business firms who now maintain storehouses on the railroad property do not know just where they will locate, but it is understood that the proposed development contemplates the construction of some storehouses so that it will not be necessary for the firms to secure locations down the river.

One of the first steps necessary for he Central Vermont to take in order to make the land west of the tracks available for railroad uses and to give the Boston & Maine an unobstructed right of way through the yard on the river side is to remove the storehouses and tenement houses from the railroad property. To that end they have given tenants this week notice of their inten-tion to terminate the various leases, directing them to vacate the land. They also have arranged for the purchase of such premises as are needed for the proposed development and which heretofore have been owned by individuals.

By authority of the company Station Agent E. J. Guthrie served notices on the various tenants Monday to vacate the land. The company owns much of the land occupied by houses facing Ver-non street between the Brattleboro House and the south end of the freight yard, but the houses are owned by the occupants, who pay a rental to the railroad company under a lease, each party having the right to terminate the lease upon specified notice. This week the Mellen Hardware company, E. B. Barrows & Co., coal dealers, Robbins & Cowles, hardwaremen, and the Bowker Fertilizer company have been notified to remove their storehouses by June 24. These buildings are located in the path of the proposed Boston & Maine track. Notices to vacate were served several months ago on the Swift Beef company, the Twin State Gas & Electric company, the Valley Grain company and L. B. Yauvey, coal dealer, so no formal notices were served on them this week. The attention of Village Clerk W. H. Perry has been called to the fact that new leases will be required for the Vernor street sewer which crosses under tracks. Holders of leases for resid purposes are Cornelius Flanigan, Michael purposes are Cornelius Flanigan, Michael Devine and J. S. Austin, who must vacate by April 24; Harry Smith, who must vacate by May 24; and John Garrity, who must vacate by June 24. Emilio Pelgrino owns and occuptes half of the double house on the lot leased by J. S. Austin, having bought it about a year ago. Thomas H. Ryan, a Western Union lineman whose house Western Union lineman whose stands on Central Vermont land, was notified some time ago to vacate. Patrick Carrity, who bought the Moynihan and Ahern places at the foot of the Vernor street hill, has sold them to the railroad He bought the Wilcutt house on Clark street recently and is living there. E. B. Barrows has sold to the company the Reed place which he bought recently. The company also has bought the John Flood, Patrick Manning and Griffin properties and has obtained an agreement with the Horace French estate whereby the French place will be deeded to it as soon as proceedings in probate court will permit. Farther south the Judge place has been sold to the railroad by the Connecticut River Power company. A few tenants are on land sold to the railroad last week by the Prospect Hill and Morningside cemetery associations, and they will be required to move. There is a serious side to the railroad matter that ought not to be overlooked, and that is that in several instances the owners of houses on leased land are day laborers who cannot afford to move them to other lands, and who cannot afford to lose them. They are modest homes, but some of them shelter large families and repre-sent many years' savings. Within the past two years John Garrity has expend-ed $600 to $700 on repairs and improve-ments and within a year or more Emillo Pelgrino has spent from $400 to $500 fixing up his house.

The following press despatch was sent to the Sunday papers from New Haven: "The practical settlement of the long dispute between Grand Trunk and New York, New Haven and Hartford rallroad interests over a union station at Brattle-boro, Vt., is essentially confirmed at the railroad offices at New Haven. An of-ficial denial is made, however, that this is in the nature of any first step toward the settlement of the Grand Trunk-New Haven conflict in New England."

A column and a half of railroad news was published in the Providence Journal Monday, beginning as follows: "An-nouncement was made last night of an agreement between the Grand Trunk and New Haven interests which puts an end to the controversy over the New end to the controversy over the New Haven's proposed Woonsocket freight yard property. The contending railways have compromised in such a way that the Southern New England will be enabled to adhere to its original route into Woonsocket by way of a trestle over the proposed yard. The New Haven, on the other hand, will utilize the yard property as such, but will modify its plans materially, particularly with replans materially, particularly with re-gard to the location of the two freight houses there. The agreement will result in a termination of the litigation brough about through the new line's recourse to the state court, and action to this end will be taken in the immediate future.

"Not only have the Grand Trunk and New Haven interests arrived at a settle-ment on their differences in the Woonment on their differences in the Woonsocket situation, but they have also reached an agreement, likewise through compromise, with regard to the question of trackage and station rights at Brattleboro, Vt., where the Boston & Maine, owned by the New Haven, and the Central Vermont, a Grand Trunk subsidiary, figured as contestants."

La Follette Won in North Dakota. The Republican primaries in North Da-kota Tuesday resulted in a clean sweep for La Follette, who led the Roosevelt forces by a margin of 12,000. The Taft ticket did not amount to much there. It was a sharp fight between two "pro-gressive" leaders. The Roosevelt sup-porters claim that the Democrats carried North Dakota for La Follette by voting in large numbers in the primaries.
